About this Index

This index was carefully transcribed from the original record books of the West Hartford Congregational Church. The earliest books are held by the Vermont Historical Society Library in Barre, Vermont. The current book is held by the Secretary of the Church. Though the church was inactive for several years, there is still a small membership base. This base has been exploring ways to renovate their historic building in West Hartford and has begun holding occasional services once again.

It is hoped that this listing will serve as a valuable resource for researchers. It will be useful in tracking families, and in some cases, learning where they moved from or to before or after their membership at the church.

As you use this index, if you come across any errors, please let us know so they may be corrected. Thank you for your assistance.
